Program Description
Tri County Technology Center’s Pre-Nursing program (NRS) prepares high school students for exciting career opportunities in health-related fields. The courses have been created in cooperation with medical professionals, and feature actual clinical experience to educate students in a “real world” environment. Students will learn medical terminology, anatomy and physiology, medical math, as well as basic knowledge and skills necessary for entry-level employment in health care as a CNA (Certified Nurse Aide). Students will receive certifications in CPR, First Aid and CNA. Students will complete clinical rotations in direct patient care situations. NRS will prepare students for future education in the health care field as well as employment as a CNA.
